

BENEDICTINE HOSPITAL TO BUILD EXTENSION AT COST OF $165,000

Will Have Over 100 Feet Frontage and Depth of 65 Feet and Will Have Quarters For 100 Patients—Equipment Cost Will Reach $40,000—Work to Start in Near Future.

Announcement of the erection of an addition to the Benedictine Hospital of this city has been made by the Sisters of St. Benedict, who conduct the local institution. Blue prints of the proposed construction are completed and have been passed on and work on the building will start in the very near future. The addition is estimated will cost about $165,000.

The new addition will adjoin the present building and the newly constructed nurses' home, extending over about 100 feet frontage with a depth of 65 feet. One hundred patients will be adequately accommodated for when completed, doubling its present capacity. F. J. Murphy of New York city, an architect of the best repute, has perfected plans that will suffice all that can be possibly needed by an institution of this character.

The building will be most appropriately equipped and finished, thus eliminating possible excessive and difficult burdens of the patients and those in charge. Modern surgical and medical appliances and devices will be installed and the total amount of equipment is expected to reach $40,000.

The addition to the Benedictine will add a present pressing demand and besides enhancing the value of the hospital and increasing its livableness and utility it will greatly add to its beauty.

A large number of student nurses have already joined the staff of the Benedictine and the sisters in charge, through schools, lectures and books, are fostering the highest standard for the profession.

WHISKEY OSBORN FOUND WAS GOOD

Lawyers Tilt Over Whether Judge McKenzie Should Try Merente on Charge of Driving Car With One Head Light.

According to the chemist who analyzed the liquid found in the two five gallon cans which were found near the scene of the automobile collision between the cars of Henry W. Osborn and Joseph Merente, Jr., near Port Ewen on September 23, the liquid was a good grade of whiskey of about 90 proof. This was brought out Saturday when John W. Eckert, who appeared for Merente, who resides at Allaben, made application to Justice Rosch for the case to be sent to the grand jury instead of being tried before Justice Henry E. McKenzie of the town of Esopus. Merente, who was driving an automobile near the Ezra Van Aken place near Port Ewen, collided with the car of Henry W. Osborn, postmaster at Ulster Park. After the accident Osborn with the assistance of Holt N. Winfield of Ulster Park held Merente and his companion, Robert F. Agre, until State Trooper Lounsbury arrived. Trooper Lounsbury arrested them charging them with driving an automobile with but one headlight lighted, a violation of the state traffic law.

As Merente was driving the car, he was arrested before Justice McKenzie and pleaded not guilty and was released under $1,000 bail for his appearance later before Justice McKenzie.

Immediately after the accident a box containing two five gallon cans of liquor was found near the scene. Shortly after Merente had gone to the car to get something out. The discovery was made by Mr. Winfield and the cans were taken in charge by the authorities.

Mr. Eckert asked that the case be sent to the grand jury as he was sure that it could not be given a fair trial before Justice McKenzie who he understood had made statements which bore out his belief. Frank W. Brooks, assistant district attorney, opposed the motion and stated that the matter would be taken up by the grand jury as well as the charge of driving a car while intoxicated but that the other action should be tried before Justice McKenzie.

Mr. Brooks stated that the analysis of the liquid taken from the cans showed "pretty good whiskey."

Mr. Osborn, it is alleged, saw Merente remove a package from the car and later the two five gallon cans of hooch were recovered.

After hearing arguments Justice Rosch took the papers and reserved decision.

ASKS COURT ORDER TO ALDERMEN

Brooks Contends Common Council Must Grant Terwilliger Bus Application and Has Option Only as to Terms.

Frank W. Brooks, attorney for James A. Terwilliger, who has sought and still seeks permission from the common council to operate a bus line over the city streets as a part of his route from Rifton to Kingston, appeared before Justice Rosch at special term Saturday at the court house and asked that the court direct the common council to give the necessary permission. Judge Rosch, who held the regular special term here Saturday on account of Judge Hasbrouck being assigned to the appellate division by Governor Miller, after hearing Mr. Brooks, granted a week in which attorneys may file affidavits. Corporation Counsel Gill, who appeared for the city officials, asked for time to prepare his affidavits.

The Terwilliger application has been before the common council on numerous occasions. The first time the application was tabled, on motion of Alderman Martin. A writ of mandamus was granted by Judge Hasbrouck directing the common council take action in the matter. The common council, in a motion of Alderman Macholdt, denied the permission on October 3, and now Terwilliger, through his attorney, seeks to compel the common council to act favorably.

Mr. Brooks claims that in accordance with the law governing the matter, the common council must grant the necessary permission, subject to such condition as to route, speed, wear and tear of highway, etc., within the city. The permission of the common council must first be obtained before application can be made to the public service commission for a certificate of public necessity. After the common council gives permission to operate within the city the applicant must go before the public service commission and receive its permission.

TWO MORE ENTRIES IN KINGSTON EXPOSITION PERFECT CHILD CONTEST

This little girl, age 3 years, 10 months, is Hermine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil H. Lawatsch, 109 East Chester street. Is she pointing to one of the prizes offered in this contest?

This dear little chap with the curls is Pierce Champlin, age 4 years, of 473 Green street.

KINGSTON EXPOSITION WILL BE EXTENSIVELY ADVERTISED

Wide Extent of Territory Around This City Will be Billed Thoroughly and Country Papers Will Carry Advertisements—Automobilists Will Help by Sticking Stickers on Their Wind Shields.

An advertising campaign both varied and extensive has been planned for the Kingston Exposition. News of the Exposition will be carried to everyone within a radius of fifty to sixty miles of Kingston.

For the city, besides the newspaper publicity and advertising, every auto owner received last week a letter explaining the scope and purposes of the Exposition. A sign was enclosed with the request that it be put on the windshield. If all owners of automobiles will do this it will result in valuable publicity, and it will show the personal interest that is necessary to make any cooperative project a success. Attractive advertisements will appear in the papers during the progress of the Exposition. This work will be supported by store window cards, banners on autos, trucks and street cars.

For outside territory, all county papers will carry "ads" and stories in each week's issues and road signs and banners and store window signs will attract every passerby. The Ulster County Automobile Club has kindly offered to distribute the advertising matter in the country and Len Winne will superintend this work. He started the first crew out this morning.

SAYS HE SAW MURDER UNDER CRAB APPLE TREE

By Telegraph to The Freeman. New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 9.—Clifford Hayes was arrested at noon today charged with the murder of the Rev. Dr. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor H. Mills.

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 9.—In a sensational 300-word statement which he dictated and signed in the county prosecutor's office here today, Raymond Schneider declared that he had been an eye-witness of the murder of the Rev. Dr. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills and named a 19-year-old youth, a chum of his, as the slayer.

Schneider asserted that the tragedy was due to a case of "mistaken identity." He said that the youth he named was "after" another man when he came upon Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills under the big crabapple tree on the Phillips farm just outside the city where the murder occurred.

Schneider told Detectives Totten and David, and State Trooper Dyckman, who did the questioning, that he and the youth had followed Pearl Bahmer, the fifteen-year-old girl who was with him when he "discovered" the bodies on the Saturday following the tragedy, out in the direction of the farm around 11 o'clock on the night in question—September 14. Hearing the farmhouse, he said, they came upon a couple under a tree which the youth immediately took to be Miss Bahmer and "this other man."

"There they are, let me get at them," he quoth his companion as he shouted. At the same time he said the youth leaped forward and opened fire. Three shots were fired.

As the last died away, they rushed upon the bodies, Schneider said. He (Schneider) realized at once "that a terrible mistake had been made."

"That's not them," he says he cried to his companion. "You have made a mistake."

The slayer agreed that such was the case and together they fled the scene. Schneider says he has no idea what his chum did with the murder pistol.

"I didn't see him throw it away," he protested. The accused youth is being detained as a material witness and announcement of an arrest is expected momentarily. Schneider also is held. The statement of Schneider which the authorities hail as the "beginning of the end" of the sensational and prolonged investigation, came as the sequel to a grilling which lasted virtually throughout the night. Schneider in fact has been under interrogation with brief recesses since 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon when he was taken to the county courthouse. After he had been questioned for several hours, detectives went to the home of John Hayes, on Richardson avenue, and got his 13-year-old son Clifford, and took him to the prosecutor's office. He, too, was grilling for a good part of the night. Still another youth questioned was Leon Kauffman, fifteen, a companion of the two youths. Kauffman was questioned for more than two hours.

Schneider, according to the authorities, told several conflicting stories before he made the statement which he declared to be the truth about the murder. In his first account of his activities on the evening of the shooting, Schneider who is only 21 years old, revealed that he had heard the shots, which ended the lives of the rector and Mrs. Mills and that he saw two men and a woman running from the scene. He stuck to this story for hours. Finally he broke down and named his companion as the actual slayer, afterwards putting his statement into writing and signing.

After completing his "final statement," Schneider was confronted with the youth he had named. He accused the youth to his face of doing the shooting.

"I saw you do it," he shouted. "If you say I did it, you are a liar," was the prompt retort.

SNEAK THIEVES ROBBED THEATER AND GROCERY STORE

Got Away With Day's Receipts of Keeney Theater and $2,100 in Bonds at Craft's Grocery Store While Both Places Were Open on Saturday Night—Bonds are Negotiable.

Two robberies of daring character occurred Saturday night when a tin box containing between $500 and $600, representing the day's receipts of the Keeney Theater, was stolen from the lobby of the theater, and a tin box containing among other things two $1,000 bonds of the Goldchaux Sugar Refining Company and a $100 Liberty bond, was stolen from the office safe of E. S. Craft & Son, No. 330 Wall street.

The robbery of the Keeney Theater receipts occurred about five minutes after 10 o'clock. The exact time of the robbery of the Craft store is not known. It was discovered when Mr. Craft was discussing the robbery across the street and happened to examine the store safe.

The box office of the Keeney Theater closed at 10 o'clock in the evening as usual. There had been unusually large audiences at the afternoon and evening performances, and the day's receipts were placed by Miss Mae Sheeler in a tin box which was locked and handed to Doorkeeper Peter T. Riester, whose custom it has been to carry it to the safe in which it is kept until it can be deposited in the bank. The day's receipts totaled between $500 and $600.

After receiving the cash box, Mr. Riester immediately carried it to the rear of the entrance to the theater, where he laid it on the chair which he occupies when not engaged in depositing tickets in the ticket box of which he has charge, and then stepped across the entrance and up the stairway leading to the second floor, to the first landing, to get his umbrella.

As he stepped over to the stairway, Mr. Riester called to one of the theater employees, who was standing near the box office, to keep his eye on the box. At the same time he glanced toward the inside of the theater. Three men were occupying chairs in the foyer, and a fourth man was standing near the curtain, looking into the theater. He did not notice the men particularly but recalls they appeared to be young, and that the man who stood by the curtain wore a raincoat.

He left the money box only long enough to walk across the entrance passage to the stairway and up the stairs to the first landing, and was in sight of thief or thieves as they lifted the money box from the chair on which he had placed it. He reached for the umbrella, which was standing in one corner of the stair-landing, then turned and retraced his steps to the chair, but when he reached it the money box was missing.

To reach his umbrella and return to his chair, he had traveled altogether about forty feet—twenty feet in each direction—and the box was left alone about fifteen or twenty seconds, possibly less.

He gave an alarm at once and the police were notified. Sergeant Phinney went to the theater and was conducting an investigation when he was notified of the Craft robbery across the street.

Craft Robbery Discovered. News of the robbery of the Keeney Theater traveled rapidly through the uptown business section. In the store of E. S. Craft & Son, which is nearly opposite the theater entrance, it was the subject of general conversation among the firm and employees and late customers. Mr. Craft, in putting away books and money, suddenly discovered that box containing securities and personal papers was not in the place to which he believes he transferred it earlier in the evening, and an examination of the safe showed that it was missing.

The box contained two $1,000 bonds of the Goldchaux Sugar Refining Company and a $100 Liberty bond, which were negotiable. Mr. Craft on Sunday telegraphed to the New York brokerage firm from which he bought the bonds for their numbers, and they will be broadcasted to brokerage firms throughout the country. The box also contained a mortgage held by Mr. Craft on a piece of property in this city, a deed for the store property and bill of sale for the fixtures, none of which are of the slightest value to the thief, and a quantity of personal papers, including the last letter written to E. S. Craft by his father, who died recently.

Saturday was a busy day at the Craft store, and on Saturday night there was the usual crowd of customers. Many customers each day pay by check for their purchases, and others pay by checks made out to them which are cashed for them by the firm. In many cases, customers who wish to have their checks cashed go behind the glass partition which partly surrounds the office at the rear of the store in order to endorse them. The office is not entirely enclosed, and the safe, which generally is open during business hours, is near the front end of the partition, within comparatively easy reach of anyone standing at the end of the partition.

The Craft store extends through from Wall to Fair street and customers use both entrances. All goods delivered by the firm are taken out through the Fair street entrance, and the office mentioned must be passed by anyone entering or leaving through the Fair street door. Usually there is one bookkeeper and sometimes two bookkeepers at work in the office during the day and evening.

The cashier's cage is near the center of the store, and as money drawer there became filled with currency, about eight o'clock he removed a quantity of the bills from the cashier's cage to the safe, and he believes that at that time he removed the tin box which is now missing to another compartment, but is not certain whether he saw it then. It is possible that the robbery had taken place before he removed the cash from the cashier's cage to the safe.

Suspects Had Fishing Tackle. On Sunday word was telephoned to the sheriff's office that two men traveling in an automobile had been seen to stop their machine near Port Ewen and one of the men had picked a tin box from the roadway and then re-entered the car which proceeded south. A description of the car was telephoned to the police of various cities and villages along the river and later the automobile and two men were located by the Poughkeepsie police in that city. The box was found to contain fishing tackle. The men had been fishing in the Catskills and the box containing the fishing tackle had dropped out of the car near Port Ewen. Immediately the occupants had stopped the car and one of them returned along the roadway for it.

The police are working on both cases.

Keeney's Cash Box Found. This morning the cash box from Keeney's theater that was stolen Saturday night, as told elsewhere, was found in the yard at No. 132 Green street, and turned over to the police department. Checks to the amount of $38.50 had been left in the box by three thieves, but the money had been taken.

This morning Charles Derrenbacher and Eugene Woods, while at work in the ice cream factory at No. 11 West Strand, were startled to discover that some time during the morning a sneak thief had visited the factory and gone through their clothing. From the pockets of Woods was taken $20.55 and from the pocket of Derrenbacher the sum of $4.50. Both men had donned old clothing while at work and had placed their other clothing in a small adjoining room. There is only one entrance to the factory, and no one could enter or leave without those at work seeing them. The police were notified, and made an investigation. Whoever the thief was he was very proficient to enter the building and help himself without being observed.

"Y" BOYS PLAN
BUSY SEASON

From Bible Classes, To Ping Pong Tournament Their Program Tells Them About Texas.

Last Friday evening, the opening banquet for the Boys' Department of the Y. M. C. A., was held in the rooms of the local association. There were sixty boys present. Members of the Girls' Auxiliary of the H-Y Club served. The banquet was planned and run by the boys' cabinet. Donald Mac Fadden, president of the cabinet acted as chairman of the affair.

After enjoying an excellent meal, the fellows heard the reports of the several chairmen of the committees. From their reports, it is evident that there will be some good times in store for the boys this winter. Weekly Bible classes, radio concerts, socials, plays, pool, roque and ping pong tournaments will be held, and to augment the already large entertainment, there is due to arrive in short order a novelty that every boy anxiously awaits.

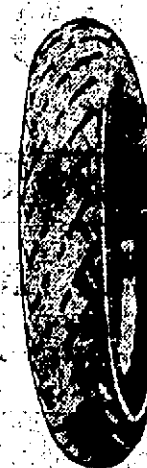

Several changes will be made in the arrangements of the games in Student B room and along the outside wall Mr. Hall will install a small bowling alley. A tournament will be held in bowling for the boys.

"Pat" Longyear, chairman of the membership committee, announced that there will be a drive for new members, and the boys who secured the most would be given a prize. The drive will start now and continue until next May.

Next Friday the first Bible class will meet in Student A room. The first social will be held on the evening of October 27. Just what will be the form of the socials was not announced. Westbrook Stelle, chairman of the social committee, in making his report, told the boys that they will have to come out and find out for themselves, but he assured them that they will be well rewarded for coming.

Mr. Miller, the new physical director, announced that the regular gymnasium work would start today. Student A will meet Monday and Thursday afternoons at 3:45. Student B Tuesday and Friday afternoons at 3:45. Student A and B together on Saturday morning, and the employed boys, Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights at 7:30. Mr. Miller also announced that the Poughkeepsie, Kingston, Newburgh road race, which was to be held on Columbus Day, has been postponed until Saturday, October 21.

Mr. Nesslage, Kingston's new scout executive, was then introduced and he told some very interesting things about Texas, the state where he was stationed before coming to Kingston. He was in what is known as the Panhandle country, where the land is perfectly level, there is no water, and there are no trees, where

The Luxury of Electric Refrigeration

FRIGIDAIRE will bring to your home a new sense of luxury. It satisfies a fine instinct in living—the love for nicety and cleanliness in kitchen habits.

Without care or attention, Frigidare preserves your food in a cold, dry, circulating air of unvarying temperature, 10 degrees colder than is possible with ice.

Fruit comes to your table perfectly chilled, vegetables have the delightful freshness that is customarily associated with only the finest hotel service.

Dainty ices, creams and frozen puddings are easily made. There is a special compartment to freeze them—and also to make sparkling, crystal-clear cubes of ice from your favorite drinking water, just the right size for a glass.

Frigidare eliminates the uncertainty of ice delivery. It is entirely automatic, is easily installed and is operated from any electric light current.

Frigidare was developed and perfected by the engineers of the General Motors Corporation. It is a simple, self-contained unit and is absolutely dependable in operation.

And with all its advantages, Frigidare will probably cost you less to operate than you now pay for ice.

Frigidare is a year-round utility, serving every day in the year. It is the most used and most appreciated of all modern conveniences.

Frigidare may be seen in operation at any of the places listed below. Or a copy of the Frigidare booklet will be sent on request.

THE ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR for MODERN HOMES

there are some counties that boast a town, but most have only ranches. There is one ranch, known as the "X I T" Ranch, the letters standing for "ten in Texas," the ranch being one that covers ten counties in the state. In this section of the country the wind is blowing all the time, and sand storms are almost continuous. In one recent hail storm, sand and hail were heaped to a height of seven feet, killing cattle and smaller animals. On the desert stretches can be seen the mirages, those remarkable freaks of nature. The glare of the sun and the shifting of the sands give one the impression that an object is in an entirely different place from where it actually is. They sometimes give the impression that a thing is directly before one, when in fact there is no such thing at all. For instance, when going through some of the desert stretches, one can always see a lake before him, when there actually is no lake.

Nearly everything in Texas has thorns. The trees, plants, insects and toads. The scorpion, rattlesnake, centipede, and giant gnats abound. The centipede is a very harmless-looking animal. He has a greenish brown back, red head and yellow belly. His very numerous legs are thorned, every one, and should one be unfortunate enough to be tread upon by one, he would be scarred deeply wherever any one of the many feet touched him. There is also the tarantula, a very poisonous insect with a lazy, waddling walk.

The heat of the desert is unbroke for many miles, but through part of it is a canyon, called the Palodora Canyon, which runs ninety miles through the Panhandle country. From many points in its immediate vicinity it cannot be seen, for its sides fall directly down from the desert, and since the tops are perfectly level with the surface of the sands, one could walk off into a hole which runs from a few feet deep in some places to three and four thousand feet in others. The canyon is the only relief from the heat in the entire Panhandle country all summer long, but there are very few people who are permitted inside it, as it is kept closed because of the practice of cattle rustlers of taking cattle from the ranches lying in the canyon. When Mr. Nesslage left the place they had not had rain for four months and there were no signs of any life.

In that country the people are much more intimate than they are here. They are much freer with what they have. If one is traveling in Texas and feels hungry, he goes to the nearest ranch. If he finds someone there, he is made welcome. If no one is at home, he gets out the food himself, cooks his meal, cleans things up, and leaves a note thanking the owner of the place. He

E. B. DUBOIS DIES AT WALLKILL

E. Bogardus DuBois, for many years one of the foremost citizens of the town of Shawangunk, but for several months a resident of this city, died of acute indigestion while visiting in Wallkill Sunday evening.

Mr. DuBois and his wife removed to Kingston several months ago, intending to make their home here, and resided at No. 25 John street, with their daughter, Mrs. Gerow Van Wyck and her husband. About ten days ago they went to Wallkill to attend to business affairs in connection with the winding up of his business there. Sunday evening he was seized with a severe attack of acute indigestion and died within a short time.

Mr. DuBois was in his sixty-first year, having been born in the town of Shawangunk April 23, 1862. He was the son of the late Daniel D. DuBois and Cornelia Bogardus. He was a direct lineal descendant of Louis DuBois, one of the New Paltz patentees, and for two hundred and fifty years his ancestors were prominent in the business, religious and political life of the towns of New Paltz, Gardiner and Plattekill.

For a number of years Mr. DuBois and his brother, Simon DuBois, were engaged in agricultural business and also in the sale of horses and cattle. Later for a number of years Mr. DuBois conducted a livery business which he afterward merged into a garage business which he conducted until failing health compelled him to retire from active business.

For more than a quarter of a century Mr. DuBois was one of the foremost Republican workers of the town of Shawangunk. He held various town offices, including that of commissioner of highways, and later served as postmaster of Wallkill.

His charities covered a wide range, and he had the respect of everyone who knew him. He always was willing to help along a worthy cause and contributed liberally to every needy case that was brought to his attention. For years there was a saying among his friends that the neediest family received as great attention from him when death entered the home as the wealthiest family in the town, and he did not let his benevolence end with supplying funeral equipages without charge.

Mr. DuBois married Ida McElhone, who survives him, with two children, Kittie C., wife of Gerow Van Wyck, and Ida May DuBois.

DISCREET COLORS IN PLAIDS

Brown is Leader for Daytime Wear; Blue Stands Out as Marked Shade for the Year.

Plaids in discreet colorings are featured for outdoor and tailored wear. English mixtures and wools in mixed colorings are strong for all type of tailored garments. Brown is the great leader for daytime wear, in all shades from dark tete de negre to fawn. Green is being pushed by many of the manufacturers, in intense shades, also in reseda and dark myrtle.

In silks, as in wools, for day wear, brown, green and black are good. For evening, all the shades with a reddish base, such as flame pink, orange and purples, are favored.

Blue in bright tones, on the order of king's blue and blue with a gray base, of the Copenhagen family, also are favored. Bright blue, in fact, stands out as the marked color note for the year, but used chiefly as a decoration, or in combination with black.

PETTICOATS AGAIN IN STYLE

Interest in the Garment is Stimulated by Fact That Outer Skirt is to Be Longer

The increased skirt length, which is an assured fact for fall and winter, has served to stimulate interest in the petticoat. This garment, which to a large extent has been taboo in favor of bloomers during the last few seasons, seems destined to have a run of favor again.

Among the undergarment novelties recently seen, one that is distinctly practical, as well as novel, is a step-in chemise, with plaited petticoat section both back and front.

Corsets continue to be light of weight, both as to fabric and boning, with short tops and as much elastic as possible used so that they give to and with the figure.

TURKS LEAVE NEUTRAL ZONE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
London, Oct. 9.—The dove of peace again fluttered into view above the Near East horizon this afternoon when the British foreign office received word from Constantinople that the Turkish troops who violated the neutral zone at Ismid, south of Constantinople, had withdrawn.

Foreign office officials said that the "Ismid incident is now closed."

The commander of the Turkish forces explained that he had mistaken the exact boundary of the neutral zone at Ismid. The Turks withdrew as soon as the British military authorities at Constantinople demanded it.

DODGE BROTHERS BUSINESS SEDAN

With this car, Dodge Brothers have literally created a new type of sedan.

They have combined open car ruggedness with closed car protection and smartness.

They have demonstrated, once for all, that a sedan can be as practical and almost as inexpensive as an open touring car.

The body is built of hand-welded steel because steel is sturdy, and will take a permanent, oven-baked finish, eliminating forever the cost of repainting.

The seats are upholstered in attractive, genuine Spanish blue leather, because leather will wash and wear.

To further enlarge the car's usefulness, the rear seat, back and side cushions, seat frame and foot rest are quickly removable, giving sixty-four cubic feet of flat loading space in the rear compartment. The manifold uses made possible by this unique feature are readily imagined.

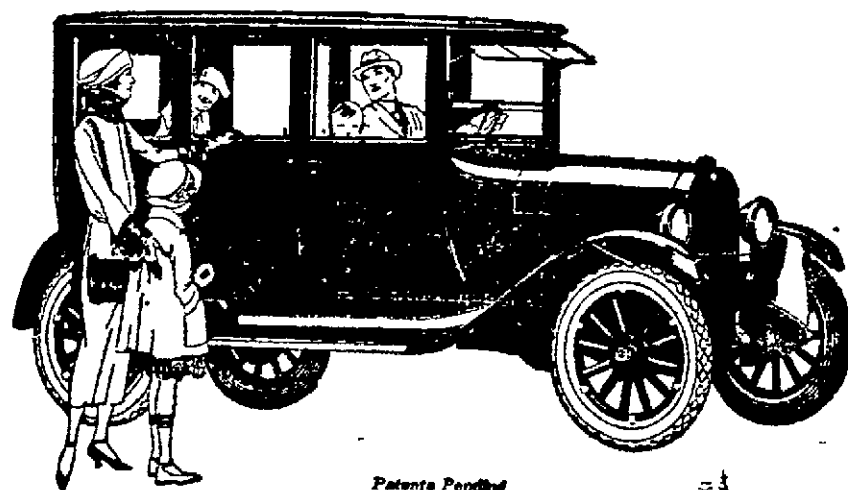

The top and rear quarters are of non-rumble, fabric construction, conforming with the present attractive vogue. From cord tires to curtain cords, the fittings, inside and out, are distinctive and complete.

In fact, every detail of the car emphasizes its striking adaptability to business as well as social use.

She will probably sit in the Senate only one day, her successor, to be elected in November, refraining from being sworn in until she has had that honor.

LITTLE TALKS ON THRIFT

by S. W. STRAUS, President American Society for Thrift.

It is gratifying to note that the current year has proved to be the greatest era of home-building and home-ownership in the history of our country. This is important because these activities signify widespread practices of thrift.

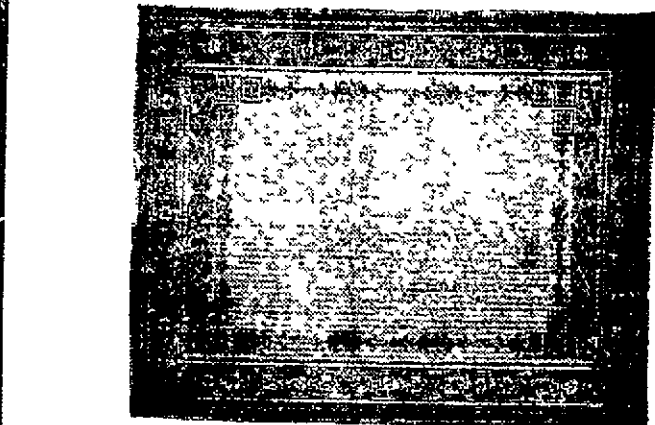

The building of new homes is the result of new wealth coming either directly or indirectly from the savings of the people.

It is a splendid commentary on the right tendency in American life. It shows right thinking and right living, and should prove a most discouraging indication to those who hope for the disruption of our present social order. These developments are of special significance at the present time when there is so much unrest in the world, and when the enemies of law and order are apparently making progress in some foreign countries.

In 1920 there were 11,400,000 home owners in the United States and this number has been greatly increased during the intervening two years. It would probably be safe to estimate that there are 13,000,000 home-owners in the United States today. A nation which spends more than a billion dollars a year for new homes and which numbers 13,000,000 home-owners among its population, is one which offers scant comfort for the alarmist, the Bolshevik or the pessimist.

In many ways we as a people are unmindful of the values that come from thrift. There are grave examples of waste and inefficiency, but the fundamentals are sound and no better proof of this can be found than in the extent of home-ownership in America and the rapid development of this phase of our national life. There is no finer example of thrift than this, and no more significant proof of the soundness and potential strength of our nation.

THE ESSENCE OF MODESTY.

It would be difficult to find in American military biography a nobler utterance than that of Colonel William J. Donovan of Buffalo when he accepted the Republican nomination for Lieutenant Governor at the big notification meeting in Cooper Union. He placed all war glory behind him, hiding the dazzling light of his Croix de Guerre and his Distinguished Service Cross under the prosaic bushel of civilian life. He insisted that he was an ordinary unspotted plain-clothes citizen, and his six sentences, waving aside the pomp and panoply of war, stamped him as a real man. Here is what he said:

I want to make very clear at the beginning of the campaign one thing, and I hope it will not be necessary to refer to it again, and that is, that I am not a soldier candidate. The mere fact that I performed my simple duty the same as 1,000,000 other men in this country is no reason that I should be singled out for political preferment. A military record is no qualification for a civil position. My alleged record in the war was not my record anyway. It was simply the fact that I have served with and brought home a regiment of unusual distinction. The men who really won that record were those who never came back with us. I shall certainly not attempt to capitalize it.

With all due regard for the opinion of such a man as William J. Donovan, it is reasonable to believe that the people of New York will consider a military record such as his a decided assurance of complete fitness for the office to which he has been nominated. Unless the people have a different viewpoint than one would expect, they will cheer the modest statement of Colonel Donovan, and they will also refuse to scrap his war record at the polls.

All honor, however, to the man who locks up his medals and who declares that he will not capitalize the right to wear them.

LITERARY CENSORSHIP.

In his decision dismissing the complaint of the Vice Society against the publishers of a privately printed edition of "The Satyricon of Petronius Arbiter" Magistrate Oberwager of New York said "It must be admitted that the Satyricon is a part of the body of classic literature," that "its value has been recognized both from the historical and literary viewpoint," that its value to the student and scholar is such that "it would be a serious matter to deny access to it," that the mere existence of objectionable isolated passages "is not of itself sufficient to condemn a literary work as falling within the prohibitive scale" and that "the Legislature did not intend to confer upon any individual or society general powers of censorship over literary works."

Of wider general interest among readers of classic and standard literature was the magistrate's further statement as follows: "If one is to condemn simply because of the existence of isolated passages of obscenity, then we are to condemn to a fate of obliteration and oblivion Shakespeare, Chaucer, Voltaire, Rousseau, Boecaccio, Balzac, Flaubert, de Maupassant, Zola, Poe, and even the Bible." Undoubtedly this is more or less true in all the cases mentioned—with the exception of Poe. In the course of a pretty wide reading of Poe we have never come upon a passage even remotely suggestive of obscenity. The reader of Poe may be too often invited to sit at a feast of horrors, but it may well be questioned whether in a single instance there is anything to offend even those who demand the severest chastity in thought as well as in line and scene.

When a man starts a big job and has it well under way it is wise to let him finish it. Governor Miller has started a big job and is doing it so well the people will insist upon his completing his work. Of this there is no doubt.

While some of us are striving to keep the wolf from the door it would be bad judgment to forget there is a Tammany uger that is waiting to jump through the door of the executive chamber. Tigers and wolves are undesirable wherever they are.

The biggest handicap the Democrats have is that Governor Miller has done all the things, and more too, that the Democrats promised to do. The difference between the Miller administration and the Smith administration is that performance characterized the Miller administration and promises typified the Smith administration. There is a difference.

It may seem strange that the most conservative section of the country should contribute the first woman Senator of the United States, but 87-year-old Mrs. W. H. Felton of Georgia, appointed to fill Senator Watson's brief unexpired term, has displayed a man's interest in politics for more than half a century, both as a writer on political topics and as an active campaigner in the interests of her husband who served many years in the House of Representatives. Mrs. Felton was an active politician long before the suffrage amendment was seriously thought of.

2. How can moths be collected, since they fly by night?

3. Do English sparrows have any natural enemies?

Answers in Tomorrow's Nature Notes

Answers To Previous Questions.

1. Why do some trees have such a lot of dead twigs under them?

This is a life habit of certain kinds of trees, as oaks, willows, elms, and horse chestnut—a sort of "self-pruning". Trees with this growth-character seal up the spot where the twig is to be shed by depositing a layer of the tissue from which bark is formed, periderm, so that no open wound is left when the twig or small branch falls off.

2. Is it true that crows will carry off and eat chickens?

They will carry off young chickens. The remedy suggested in Forbush's Useful Birds and Their Protection is to keep small chicks or ducklings in portable runs—frames covered with chicken wire. These can be moved from spot to spot, to insure the fowls clean grass as a floor. At four months they can be released, as they will be too large for crows to attack.

3. Are there any sea cows now in existence?

Not of the Arctic variety, which is said to have been practically exterminated by the whalers by 1790, the last known single specimen being killed 1854. But off Florida, and in the Amazon river, two species of sea cows, or manatees, are found. Occasional specimens are shown in aquariums where the tanks are big enough to accommodate the animal. Though living in water and helpless if by accident stranded, the manatee is an air breather, and when sleeping—below the surface—they come to the top every few minutes to get air.

QUICK OF WEST PARK ASKS MARRIAGE DISSOLUTION

John Quick of West Park has begun an action in supreme court for the dissolution of his marriage to Mary Quick, who disappeared from home on May 31, 1917, and has never been heard of since. Evidence was taken before Justice Rosch at special term Saturday at the court house here and after testimony of Mr. Quick and Walter Green had been taken the case was held open until further testimony could be secured. Mr. Quick and Mrs. Quick were married at West Park in August, 1916 and lived together until the day of her disappearance. Mr. Quick testified that he had gone to work that day and when he returned his wife was missing. Since then he has heard nothing from her. A niece who resides in Brooklyn was written to by Mr. Green and she informed him that she had not heard from Mrs. Quick. The case was held open until such time as the niece and other relatives of Mrs. Quick could be brought here to testify.

Mr. Quick testified that he had inquired of his neighbors when his wife disappeared and they informed him that she said she was going to Poughkeepsie. He also testified that he and his wife had had some words over the children of his by a former marriage. Henry E. McKenzie appeared for Mr. Quick.

LOS KAMP CONCERT FOR WOMEN'S CLUB

One special reason for the calling of an extra meeting of the executive committee of the Federation of Women's Clubs at the Kingston City Library on Friday afternoon, was to hear details regarding the giving of a concert by Miss Los Kamp in November. On November 17, Miss Virginia Los Kamp, contralto soloist and choir director of the Rondout Presbyterian Church, will give a concert, assisted by other noted and very entertaining talent, for the benefit of the Federation of Women's Clubs. The list of artists, program and place of the concert will be given at a little later date, but the Federation of Women's Clubs wishes the public to know about the date, with the hope that it will be kept open for the concert by all music lovers and those interested in the federation and its work.

An invitation was received from the Chamber of Commerce at the federation to occupy a booth at the coming exposition and the same was accepted, the women being enthusiastic over making their booth one worthy of their organization. It was voted that the federation should continue its membership in the Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Harry Walker, the secretary, was appointed to represent the federation at the missionary mass meeting to be held next Wednesday at the Fair Street Reformed Church, when Dr. Ida Scudder will present the cause of the Women's Union Christian Colleges of the Orient. Mrs. Harry Walker will offer the federation pledge of $25, as the president, Mrs. Rice, will be in New York city attending the state federation meeting.

It was announced that the fall open meeting would be held the fourth Saturday afternoon in October, the 28th at the Sunday school room of the St. James M. E. Church. The Olympian Club will entertain and will present Dr. Dahlmann of India, who will tell of the political and social life of India. The next executive committee meeting will be on the Thursday afternoon preceding the open meeting.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

AUSTRALIAN CRANE

"I am called a beautiful gray crane by my keeper and by visitors to the zoo," said the Australian Crane.

"I am glad my keeper calls me beautiful for I am so devoted to my keeper and I think everyone wants to be cared for by those they like."

"It is so nice to be thought beautiful by one whose admiration one wants."

"And I do so much want my keeper's admiration."

"Then, too, I am glad that the visitors think I am beautiful for I like to have my keeper made happy."

"And he is made very happy when people admire me."

"Oh yes, he seems to be proud of me. And I am proud that he is so fond of me."

"We've been friends for a long, long time now, oh, for a number of years."

"I have a red top upon my head. I do not mean to say that I have a red top such as a child will have a red top to spin around."

"I've seen such tops when they've brought them to the zoo. You couldn't spin my top about and I wouldn't want you to try."

"In the first place of all it doesn't come on and in the second place I wouldn't want to spin around with it. I'd get so fearfully dizzy."

"Over the Fence."

"But this is all silly chatter for no one is going to spin the red top upon my head."

"I only meant to explain that it was a touch of red—a kind of ornament to my plumage and that it wasn't a top which I carried about with me. I mean to make a great deal of it, but it is all cranes' own."

"My keeper says at times I make too much noise, but he laughs when he says that."

"And I think he says it because he would not like it if I were so good as to be unimportant."

"I eat grain and such food."

"I will follow my keeper all about. You all know the old Mother Goose rhyme about Mary and the Lamb?"

"I've heard children speak of that but I am almost that same way with my keeper."

"I follow him all about. I do not follow him to school, of course. In the first place he is all through with school. And in the second place we don't even go in the direction of schools."

"We go about these parts. I go to him when he calls me and I follow him whenever he takes me for a walk or a stroll."

"I believe a stroll means about the same as a walk, but I am sure you don't mind my being generous with the words."

"Anyway I was going to tell you that I had made up a little rhyme about myself and the keeper. It is this:

The keeper loves the Australian Crane.
The Australian Crane loves him.
The keeper calls to the Australian Crane.
The Crane follows the keeper with vim.

The Australian Crane has feathers gray
The Australian Crane has a loud voice, they say."

The keeper is good to the Australian Crane
And he calls him his special pet.
The Australian Crane appreciates that
And he favors his keeper, you bet!
The Australian Crane is ready to go
Whenever at all the keeper says so.

"But I must tell you," the Australian Crane went on, "of Sunday last when I got over the fence of my big yard."

"Gracious," said the people, "the crane is out. He will run away. He will get lost."

"Gracious," they all said, "he will get lost."

"And some of the zoo people said the same."

"But the keeper, my keeper, came hurrying along. And then he called to me."

"Well, of course, I followed him right along and he led me safely back to my yard without any trouble and without any fuss."

"No one had to chase me, nor did they have to catch me. I just followed my keeper back home."

"And everyone said:

"The crane likes his keeper."

"And they spoke the truth!"

STRAWBERRY BED NEEDS WINTER COVER.

The practice of providing some sort of covering for the strawberry bed during the winter months has much to recommend it both to the commercial grower and to the amateur gardener with only a small patch, says the strawberry specialist at the experiment station at Geneva. Protection of the roots against repeated freezing and thawing during the winter, preservation of the soil moisture in the spring, improvement of the physical condition of the soil, the addition of plant food to the soil, the smothering of the weeds in the early spring, slowing up the early growth of the strawberry plants until after danger from late spring frosts is past, and protection of the fruit from dirt at picking time are the chief advantages to be gained by providing a winter mulch for the strawberry bed.

The best mulching material is one that can be spread rapidly and evenly and, at the same time, furnish the greatest protection to the strawberry plants without introducing too many weed seeds, says the station expert. The choice of materials used for mulching should depend largely on cost and availability, that most easily obtained at the least cost usually being selected. Coarse, strawy horse manure is especially desirable if not too high priced, due to its fertilizing value. Marsh hay, wheat or oat straw, swale grass, and fallen leaves are excellent mulching materials. Even corn stalks may be used to good advantage if nothing else is available. Care must be exercised, however, not to use such fine material that the plants will be smothered. This might follow from the use of sawdust or similar substances.

The mulch should be applied to the entire surface of the ground and should cover the plants from one to two inches. The best time to put on the mulch is said to be just after the ground is frozen for the first time in the fall. When the plants begin to grow in the spring, the covering should be shaken up and pulled to the space between the rows in order not to smother the berry plants.

Adutchevsky, Comes Back.

Philip Adutchevsky, formerly of this city but later for a number of years engaged in the meat and fish business in Boston and at Fleischmanns, has purchased the corner of Harry Van Steenburgh, 76 Crown Street, which he will convert into a first-class fish, oyster and clam market at which business he has long experience. For a number of years John Bock conducted very successfully a fish market at this stand.

MORE ABOUT BREAKFASTS

As for meals, let us begin at the beginning, and serve something different occasionally. When you can have fresh trout fried, broiled, or baked in cream you might not care for salt mackerel, but it is a delectable dish when well and carefully cooked and served.

Baked Mackerel.—Wash the fish by soaking in water, skin side up, over night. Wipe dry, place in a baking pan and if lacking in fat dot with bits of butter and cook, adding a teaspoonful of water—more as it evaporates. Ten minutes before serving pour over a cupful of cream, add seasonings and serve piping hot.

New England Salt Cod.—Cut salt fish in squares and soak over night. In the morning drain and rinse, cover with fresh boiling water and simmer until tender. Spread on a platter and put in the oven. Make a drawn butter sauce of one tablespoonful of butter and two tablespoonfuls of flour cooked together until the mixture leaves the sides of the pan. Add one cupful of cold water and stir constantly till the sauce is thick and smooth. Pour over the codfish and serve. Mince parsley, a squeeze of lemon juice, or hard cooked egg, chopped fine may be added to the sauce.

Cream Eggs With Onion.—Fry two sliced onions in butter, but do not brown. Stir in one cupful of milk or cream and two tablespoonfuls of flour, rubbed to a paste with a little cream. Season with salt, pepper, a bit of putney and when thick add eight hard-boiled eggs sliced. Heat thoroughly and serve.

Tongue Scramble.—Take one cupful of finely-minced cooked tongue, add six eggs well beaten. Season with grated onion, shredded green pepper or minced parsley. Cook in butter.

MOTORBUS HIT THE ICE WAGON

Saturday afternoon about 5 o'clock George Osterhout and Thomas Vanderzee, employed by the Binnewater Ice Company on one of the delivery wagons hauled by a team of horses, had a close call from serious injury if not being killed, when a big auto of the Myers bus line ran into the rear of the ice wagon on Albany avenue near Bruyn avenue, about in front of the residence of Charles P. Gray. Osterhout and Vanderzee were knocked off the driver's seat by reason of the sudden impact of the autobus with the rear end of the wagon. Osterhout held on to the reins with one hand on the wagon pole with the other while Vanderzee, who fell to the roadway between the horses, yelled with fright. The horse started on a run and the pole struck a tree, while Osterhout struck the top of his head and was knocked out for a second, recovering and stopping the team. Vanderzee was badly bruised, and besides the severe bump on his head. Osterhout was bruised about his hip. The front and rear end of the big ice wagon was wrecked. Mr. Osterhout told a Freeman reporter that he was driving the team on the right side of Albany avenue on his way home, and that the Meyer autobus was behind him, the bus being on its way to town from a repair shop.

Casting the Dead to Hyenas.
To certain tribes of East Africa, a dead body is "taboo," and they will not touch it. They look upon the hyena, who is believed to embody the spirit of their ancestors, as a friend, and it is to these scavengers that their bodies are delivered at death—and even before death, many of them being torn asunder and worried while still alive. When a native of these tribes is ill, food and drink are given till the hope of recovery is abandoned, and the patient is put out at night for the hyenas. In many instances where it is suspected that the illness may prove fatal, a string is tied to the toe of the sick one, and so long as there is an answering pull on the string the patient is provided with food and drink each day, but if there is no reply to the pull of the string no investigation is made, and the hyenas, never far away, can take their prey.

That Word "Sterling."
Of unusual interest is the derivation of the word "sterling," as applied to something that is "genuine, pure, unadulterated, or of excellent quality." The original form of the word was "easterling." The Easterlings were the north Germans, or the merchants of the Hanseatic league, the original "moneyers" of England. The name of these merchants came to be applied to coin or goods of a fixed, standard value, answering all tests. In the time of Edward I, we find an English coin issued of the designation of a dinar or dinarius, called "sterling." Since that time the word "sterling" has been applied to the English pound, which before the war was regarded as the best value in the world.

This World First.
There is an English church where a box hangs on the porch. It is used for communications for the pastor. Cranks put their notes in it, but occasionally it does fulfill its purpose. Recently the minister preached, by request, a sermon on "Recognition of Friends in Heaven," and during the week the following note was found in the box: "Dear Sir: I should be much obliged if you could make it convenient to preach to your congregation on 'The Recognition of Friends on Earth,' as I have been coming to your church for nearly six months and nobody has taken any notice of me yet."—Christian Register.

Big Flakes

with that exquisite flavor

Note how Mother's Oats excel.

Note the big flakes and the luscious flavor.

That's because these oats are flaked from just the richest, plumpest grains. All the little oats which Nature neglects are excluded.

We get but one pound of Mother's Oats from three pounds of the choicest oats that grow.

Consider what oats mean to you and yours.

This is supreme food. Everybody needs it, as you know.

It is very economical—only one-half cent per dish. The same nutrition, measured by calories, in meat or fish foods costs nine or ten times as much.

Then why not serve this premier food in its most delightful form?

PORT JERVIS AND K. H. S. IN TIE GAME

Displaying a well developed passing game the Kingston High School varsity fought its way to a 6-6 tie with the strong Port Jervis eleven on the latter's field Saturday afternoon through a heavy downpour of rain that made it decidedly uncomfortable for the spectators. Taking everything as a whole Kingston displayed a decidedly improved brand of football over that of last week at Middletown.

As stated above, Kingston was particularly strong in completing forward passes with Anderson and Vogt starring in this particular line. In the other departments of the game the home team was not as strong as they should be and in fact must be if they expect to score a win over Poughkeepsie next Saturday at Poughkeepsie. The line did not play as well on the defensive as they did in Middletown and the Port Jervis aggregation did not have much difficulty in making holes for their backs to plow through. At times the Kingston backfield did not have any holes to plow through but when they did have them they did not seem to be able to pick them out. Captain Davis made the most substantial gains through the line. Colvin, last year's star in the backfield, has not yet recovered his old ability of running around the ends and is also weak in picking holes. Vogt was not called upon to do much line bucking but was absolutely indispensable to the team in so far as punting, catching forwards and end runs were concerned. Faulk played a good consistent game but could not seem to gain very much ground. Leverett, who was put in Faulk's position towards the end of the game showed up well. On the line McLane, F. Anderson, H. Anderson, and Davenport, played a stellar game.

Port Jervis' star in backfield was a player by the name of Smith. When this individual made up his mind that he was going through the Kingston line there didn't seem to be anything which could stop him. Their star on the line was a tackle by the name of Buley who cut off quite a number of plays which would have meant good gains for Kingston. Taking everything as a whole, the Port Jervis team was a well rounded team and one which would give any high school team something to worry about.

At the start of the game Kingston kicked to Port Jervis' forty yard line, where they held them for three downs when Port Jervis was forced to punt. Smith sent down a good punt for approximately thirty yards. Port Jervis then held Kingston for three downs and forced Vogt to punt. Vogt sent the ball about twenty yards down the field to a Port Jervis man who fumbled the punt and Kingston recovered. The Kingston team then advanced the ball five or six yards through the line and then things began to happen. Davis, who called signals in an admirable fashion throughout the first half, called for a forward pass from Vogt to Anderson. Vogt sent a beautiful pass through the air and Anderson pulled that same pass down out of the air with two or three Port Jervis men surrounding him and doing their best to knock it down. This brought the ball up the Port Jervis' ten yard line. At the end of the quarter the ball was on the seven yard line with the Kingston team going strong. At the beginning of the second quarter Davis threw a forward to Vogt over the goal line, who juggled it for a moment but finally fell on it for the first tally of the season. The Kingston team then tried to get the extra point by a forward but did not succeed as the home line did not hold long enough for Vogt to get the pass off.

Port Jervis came back with a rush evidently having decided that matters had gone far enough for their own good. They proceeded to rush the ball down the field by series of line plunges with Smith starring. The ball was brought up to the eight yard line when the Kingston line finally began to hold. On the fourth down they were still four yards behind the line. Castlin took the ball through for about a yard when he was tackled by a Kingston man. However as he was being tackled the ball was knocked out of his hand into the hands of Franklin who fell on the ball over the goal line. Port Jervis also failed to make the extra point.

In the second half the ball seemed to be in the middle of the field in Kingston's possession. The outstanding features of this half was a forty-five yard punt by Vogt, some good line bucking by Davis and another forward pass caught by Anderson. At the end of the half the ball was in the middle of the field in Kingston's possession.

K. H. S.—H. Anderson, left end; McLane, left tackle; Messinger, left guard; Soners, center; F. Davenport, right guard; F. Anderson, right tackle; Carroll, right end; Faulk, quarterback; Vogt, left halfback; Colvin, right halfback; (Capt.) Davis, fullback.

Substitutions: Port Jervis, Cadle for Garris; Stoudt for Wootton; Chanly for Wilson; Wilson for Buley.

K. H. S., O'Reilly for Messinger; Vogt for Faulk; Faulk for Vogt; Leverett for Faulk.

None of Apple Wasted.

The thoroughness with which the apple is now worked over and utilized by some manufacturers makes it comparable with the packing-house pig that leaves only a little squeal. The apple is not transformed into such a variety of products as the pig, but all are useful, and when the last of the series has been made hardly a smell is left.

In many of the apple-using factories the apples are first pressed to produce cider, which may be sold as such or may be manufactured into vinegar. After thorough pressing the pomace is treated with hot water to remove the pectin, which, after purification, is sold in either liquid form to manufacturers of jellies and similar products and to housewives. The much-wasted and squeezed residue is dried, ground, and sold as cattle feed.

On the Farm.

Once the farmer swathed his wheat with the cradle and raked and bound it by hand. Then the horse-drawn reaper appeared, then the McCormick binder, and, finally, the great mechanical tractors of the present, each of which hauls two binders. Once, also the antiquated flail "resounded from morning to night" on the beat of the farms. Then horses were used to

What the Sun is to the Flower

Have you ever seen a great, glowing hollyhock unfolding before the warm rays of the sun until every delicate vein and tendril seemed to quiver with life and joy?

Just so does the Yeast in your loaf of Bread carry its life-giving gift of vitamins to every crumb and fiber.

What the sun does for the flower, the Yeast does for your Bread. It softens and ripens the gluten of the flour, making the texture of the Bread fine and delicate.

Without sunlight flowers droop and die. Without Yeast, the Bread you love would not be a food at all, but a dead, indigestible mass of dough.

It is the rich content of Yeast in MRS. SALZMANN'S MOTHER'S BREAD that gives it the delicate, appetizing flavor that keeps you wanting more and more.

KEENEY CASH BOX FOUND UNDER BUSH

The tin money box which was stolen from the Keeneey Theatre Saturday night was found a few minutes before eleven o'clock this morning under a small bush within two feet of the sidewalk line along the residence of Leo V. Grogan, at No. 132 Green street.

The box had been pried open with some instrument which forced the lock. Inside the box were checks totaling $38.50 which had been partly obliterated by the rain which had found its way in the box. The inside of the box was quite wet.

Finger prints on the box may have been totally obliterated by the rain but there are indications that they were not entirely washed away.

Mrs. Frances E. Post who resides at No. 136 Green street discovered the box while passing along the street, and immediately notified Mrs. Herbert and her mother, who in turn promptly notified the police. Sergeant Phinney went to the house and secured the box which was taken to police headquarters.

There is a space about three feet between the south side of the Herbert residence and the fence line, and this space is filled with small flowering shrubs none of which are over eighteen inches in height. Several of the shrubs are near the street line, and Mrs. Post noticed the box in the grass under one of the shrubs nearest the street.

Wants Place of Trial Changed.
John Rea, attorney for defendant in the action brought by Charles H. Johnson against Jennie Wagoner of Albany, on Saturday made application to Judge Roche at special term to have the place of trial changed from Ulster to Albany county. The action grows out of an automobile collision at Albany on August 3, last, when the automobiles of the plaintiff and defendant came together and both were damaged. John W. Eckert, who appeared for plaintiff, opposed the motion on the grounds that the majority of the witnesses resided in Kingston as well as the plaintiff and that Ulster county would be the more convenient. Papers were submitted by both attorneys and the attorneys were given until Wednesday to file replying affidavits.

Hiram Was Petulant.
Among a number of things Sheriff Kolts was called to investigate since Saturday night was an Old Hiram incident. Sunday evening, George Dumond, a dairyman, notified him that Hiram Wood, a farm hand who had been to Kingston, had returned to the farm in an exuberant condition and was going to bed seemed to make him petulant. The sheriff acted on Hiram and after a conversation with the farm hand Hiram decided that he would go to his bed and behave himself, which he was allowed to do, there being no objection on the part of Mr. Dumond.

MRS. DOLSON HIT BY AUTOMOBILE

Mrs. C. Arthur Dolson of 716 Broadway, is in the Kingston City Hospital with a broken jaw and a badly bruised body as the result of being struck Saturday evening at Broadway and Albany avenue by a Chevrolet car driven by Joe Degani of Cementon. In the car with Degani was Jesse Trenitine, also of Cementon. The young men had attended "The First Night" at the Kingston Opera House and were on the way home at the time of the accident. Officer Font, who was passing at the time, stopped his car and helped them place Mrs. Dolson in the Degani car and remove her to the hospital. At the hospital this morning it was stated that her condition was favorable. Her body is a mass of bruises. In addition to the broken jaw she was also injured about the head.

CURRENT OFFERINGS AT THE THEATRES

William Farnum is featured tonight at Keeney's in "Shackles of Gold" a stirring play based on the splendid drama "Sampson" by Henri Bernstein. It tells the story of a man who comes up from the docks, makes a fortune in oil and marries a woman who hates him. Dan Mason in "Toonerville Trails" is also programmed Tuesday the new screen beauty, Mia May, in "The Greatest Truth" a massive spectacular drama of life in Nero's time and brought up to date with a modern version of today. An added feature of especial interest is a one reel subject, re-creations of history, motion pictures made twenty-five years ago showing the inauguration of President McKinley, a vivid memoir of the martyred chief-of-state.

GIANTS ARE WORLD CHAMPIONS

Defeating the Yankees for the Second Time in World's Series Contests—Giants' Heavy Hitters Are Effective.

Reckless base running and the inability to make the most of their opportunities when the time was ripe for scoring, cost the Yankees the fourth game of the world's series. Mays and Jones opposed McQuillan on the mound for the Giants.

RADIO OUTFIT FOR "TB" CAMP

A movement has been started for the purchase of a radio outfit for the tuberculosis camp and contributions will be received by Mrs. Sam Bernstein, care of the Eagle Hotel. What the installation of a radio outfit would mean to the shut-ins at the camp can easily be seen. Many of these people are unable to get out and the variety of programs which are broadcasted each day would provide a daily source of entertainment. There would be a variety of amusement every evening such as cannot be supplied in any other way and a means of entertainment would be supplied to these unfortunate people who cannot get out to seek entertainment. The installation of a radio outfit would go a long way to break the monotony of the long evenings and provide cheer for the unfortunate folks who are there.

MIDDLETOWN, 7; POUGHKEEPSIE, 0

While Kingston was being held by Port Jervis to a 6-6 tie on Saturday, Middletown was shedding some light on the comparative merits of Kingston and Poughkeepsie by defeating Poughkeepsie by a 7-0 score. Poughkeepsie fumbled the ball and Middletown end by the name of Penito recovered and carried the ball to within three yards of the Poughkeepsie goal, near the end of the first quarter. On the next play Meade carried the ball over the line and kicked the goal from placement, giving the game to Middletown by a 7-0 score.

A spectacular run by Bruno brought the ball to within 20 yards of Middletown's goal line. However, P. H. S. lost their only chance to score by fumbling the ball. As Middletown also defeated Kingston by a 7-0 score it looks as though there might be quite an exciting game at Poughkeepsie Saturday when the Kingston team travels to that place to engage in the first league game of the season.

Bird-on-the-Wing.

Another "fringed" flower, that, like the orchid, is given a quaint, fanciful name, is the fringed polygala. This lovely blossom, delicately colored with a blending of rose and lavender and purple, has odd pointed petals that, when bent back, do really resemble a "bird on the wing." Although, nearly always, the polygala is to be found in down colors, flower lovers are occasionally fortunate enough to run across pure white blossoms of this same variety. When these are discovered, one feels that a flock of exquisite diminutive white doves nestles in the thick swamp grass.

A Good Night Scene.

We saw the spring beauties go to bed. A rocky hillside was crowded with them, all alert and smiling in the early afternoon; and even as we sat among them, and mused on lovely things and things of good report, incited thereto by their sweet charms, they softly began, right under our reverential gaze, to fold up their rose-striped draperies, and one by one they withdrew. This they did while the sun was still well above the horizon, its rays falling full upon their couch. A gentle sight, neighbor, and open to all.
